Post-Secondary Planning

- ❖ Post-secondary planning is not just for students who are going to university
- ❖ Even though you may not feel ready to ‘decide’ what you want to do with ‘the rest of your life’....planning for your future involves investigating your options

Start the journey....
We are all here to help you

Career Coaching

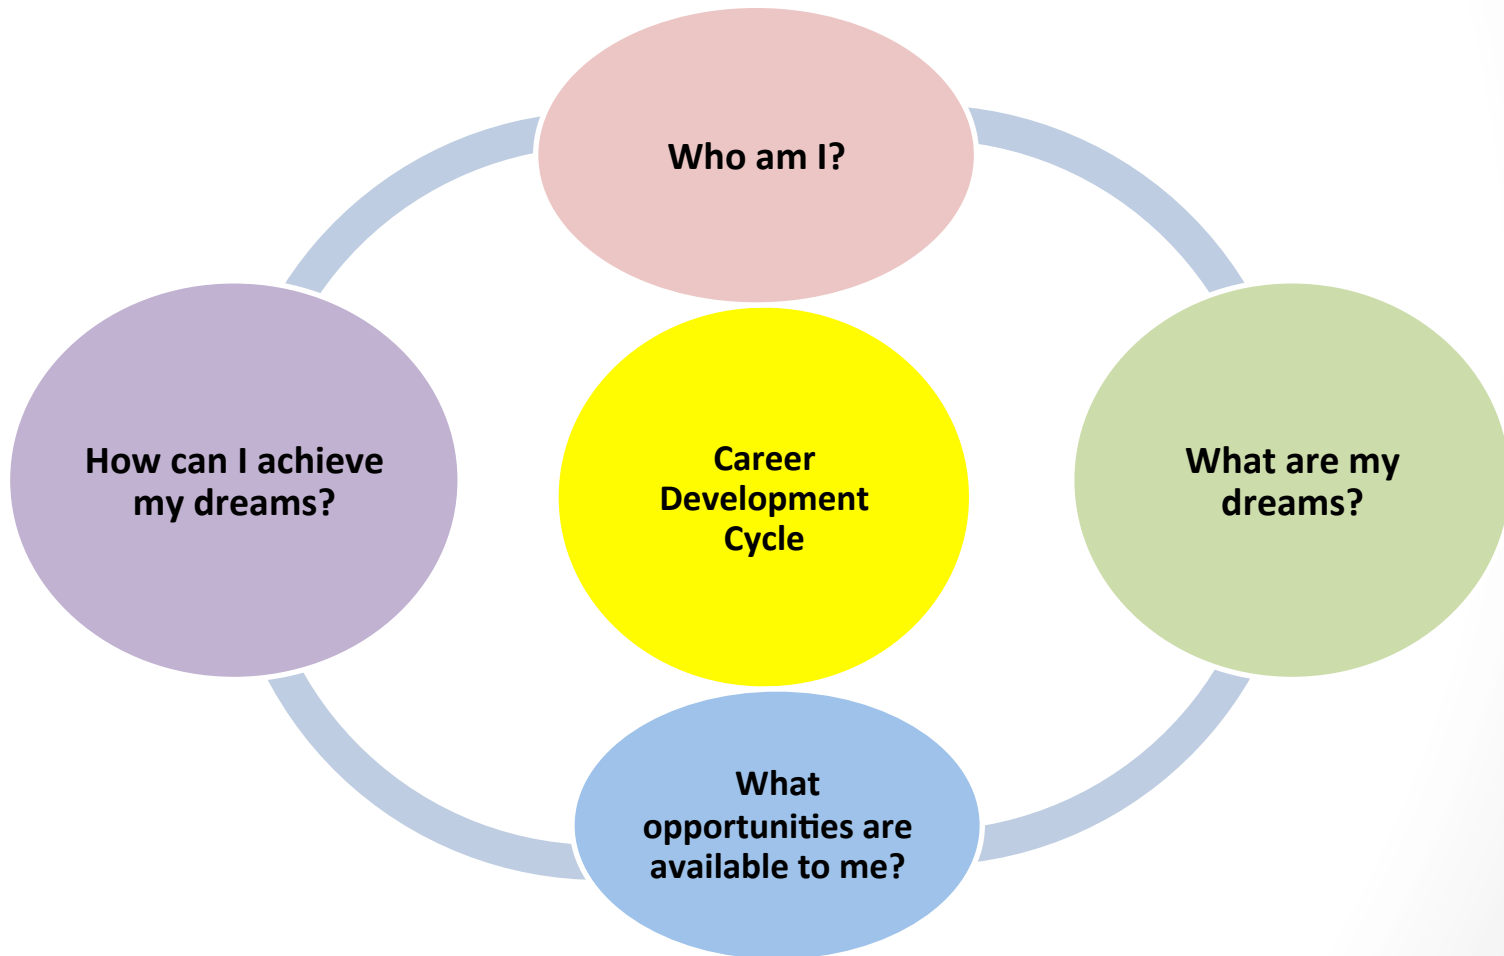

- * There are thousands of options available to you
- * Before you choose courses, you need to have thought about.....

Your interests/passions/personality

FINDING YOUR WAY

Don't stress! You don't have to have it all figured out. Start your journey by having conversations, researching, and figuring out your interest area.

Who am I?

My learning style?

What am I passionate about and what inspires me?

My interest and abilities?

My personality traits and values?

What are my dreams and hopes for the future?

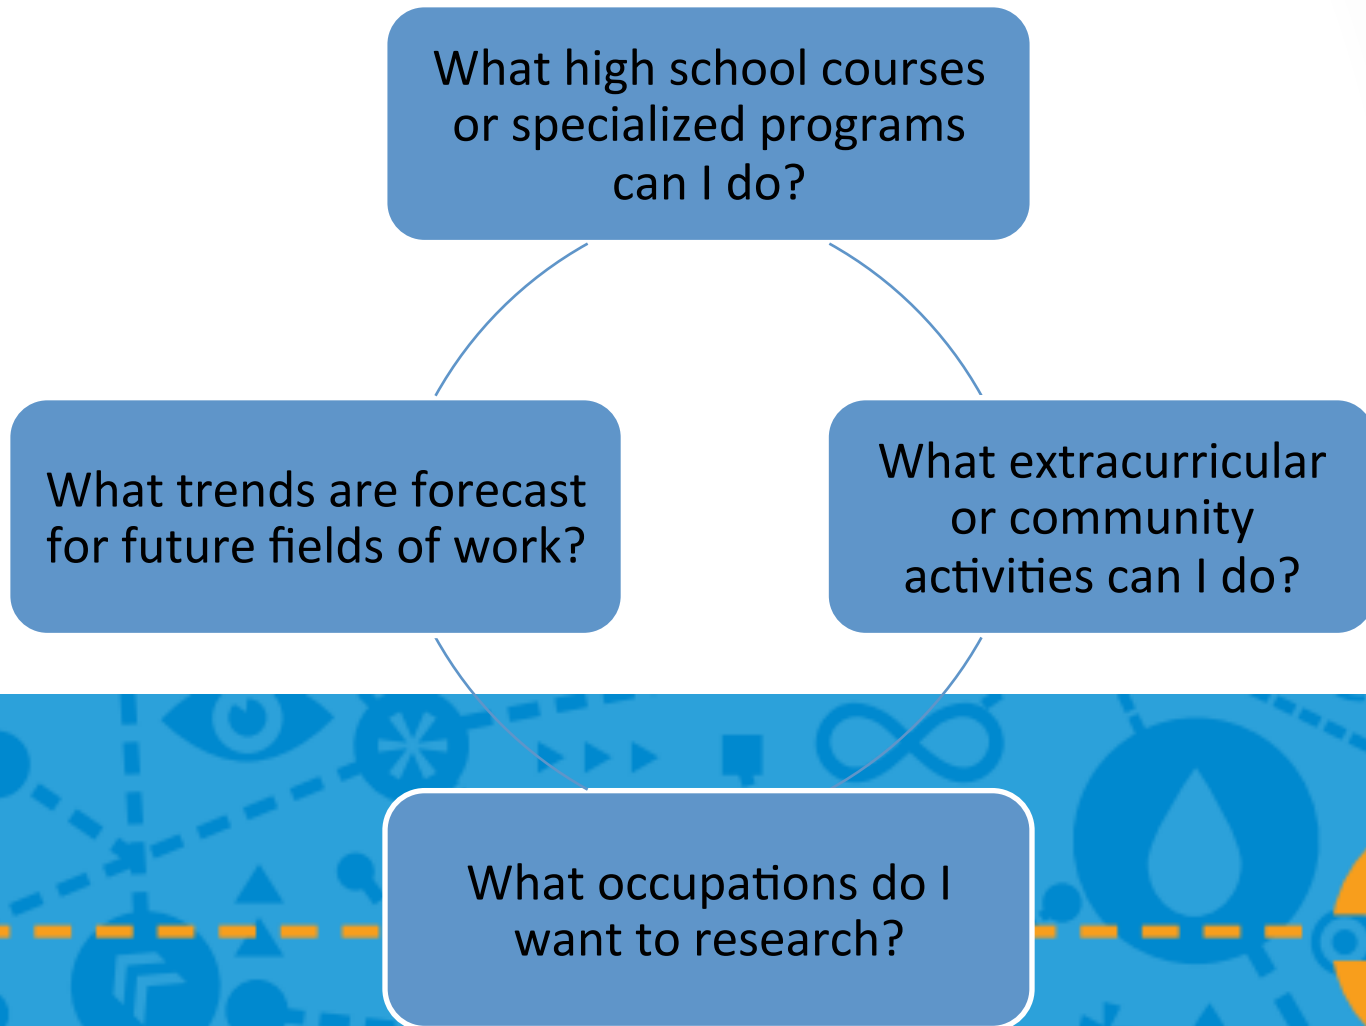

Who do I want to become?

What are some goals I want to accomplish?

What does success mean to me?

What opportunities are available to me?

How can I achieve my dreams?

- ❖ What steps can I take to help me achieve my goals?
- ❖ What resources are available to help me plan my path?
- ❖ Who can support me in achieving my goals?
- ❖ What potential obstacles or challenges could I encounter and what possible solutions or strategies can I use to overcome them?

Focus Areas

Which focus areas interest me the most?

Options for After High School

- ❖ Trades or Technical Training
- ❖ College or University
 - to obtain a diploma, certificate, degree
 - to up-grade courses
- ❖ Work
- ❖ Travel (e.g. Gap Year)

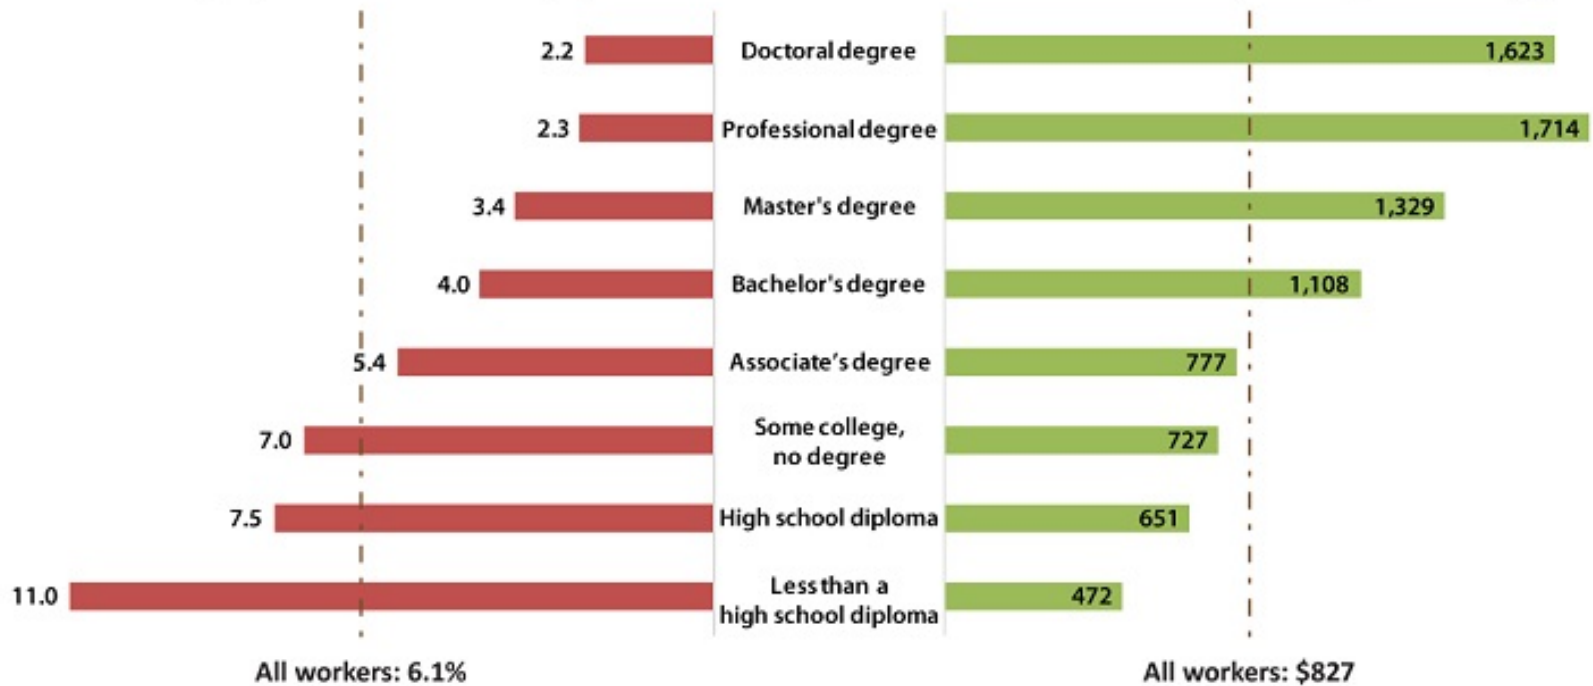

Why Post-Secondary?

Greater Education = Greater Earnings and Less Unemployment

Earnings and unemployment rates by educational attainment

Unemployment rate in 2013 (%)

Median weekly earnings in 2013 ($)

Note: Data are for persons age 25 and over. Earnings are for full-time wage and salary workers.

Why Post-Secondary?

Increase Employment Opportunities!

Job Openings By Education Level:

- * 15% will require some high school
- * 17% will require high school graduation
- * 25% will require university degree
- * 43% will require work-based training

What Is a Trade?

What is a Journeyperson?

- * A skilled trade is an occupation that requires provincially recognized certification
- * A journeyperson is a person who has demonstrated both the practical and technical proficiency in a specific skilled trade and has obtained the required certification

General Requirements: Trades

- There are over 150 trades

Each trade has it's own entrance requirements

- LANGUAGE ARTS: English 11 + 12 recommended;
- MATH: Apprenticeship and Workplace 11 is fine for some programs but not for trades such as Electrician which requires Academic Math 11 and Physics 11 or Chemistry 11. Foundations 11 or Pre-Calculus 11 is fine for all programs
- Note: Specific Program Entry Requirements must be researched to determine the recommended high school pre-requisite courses.

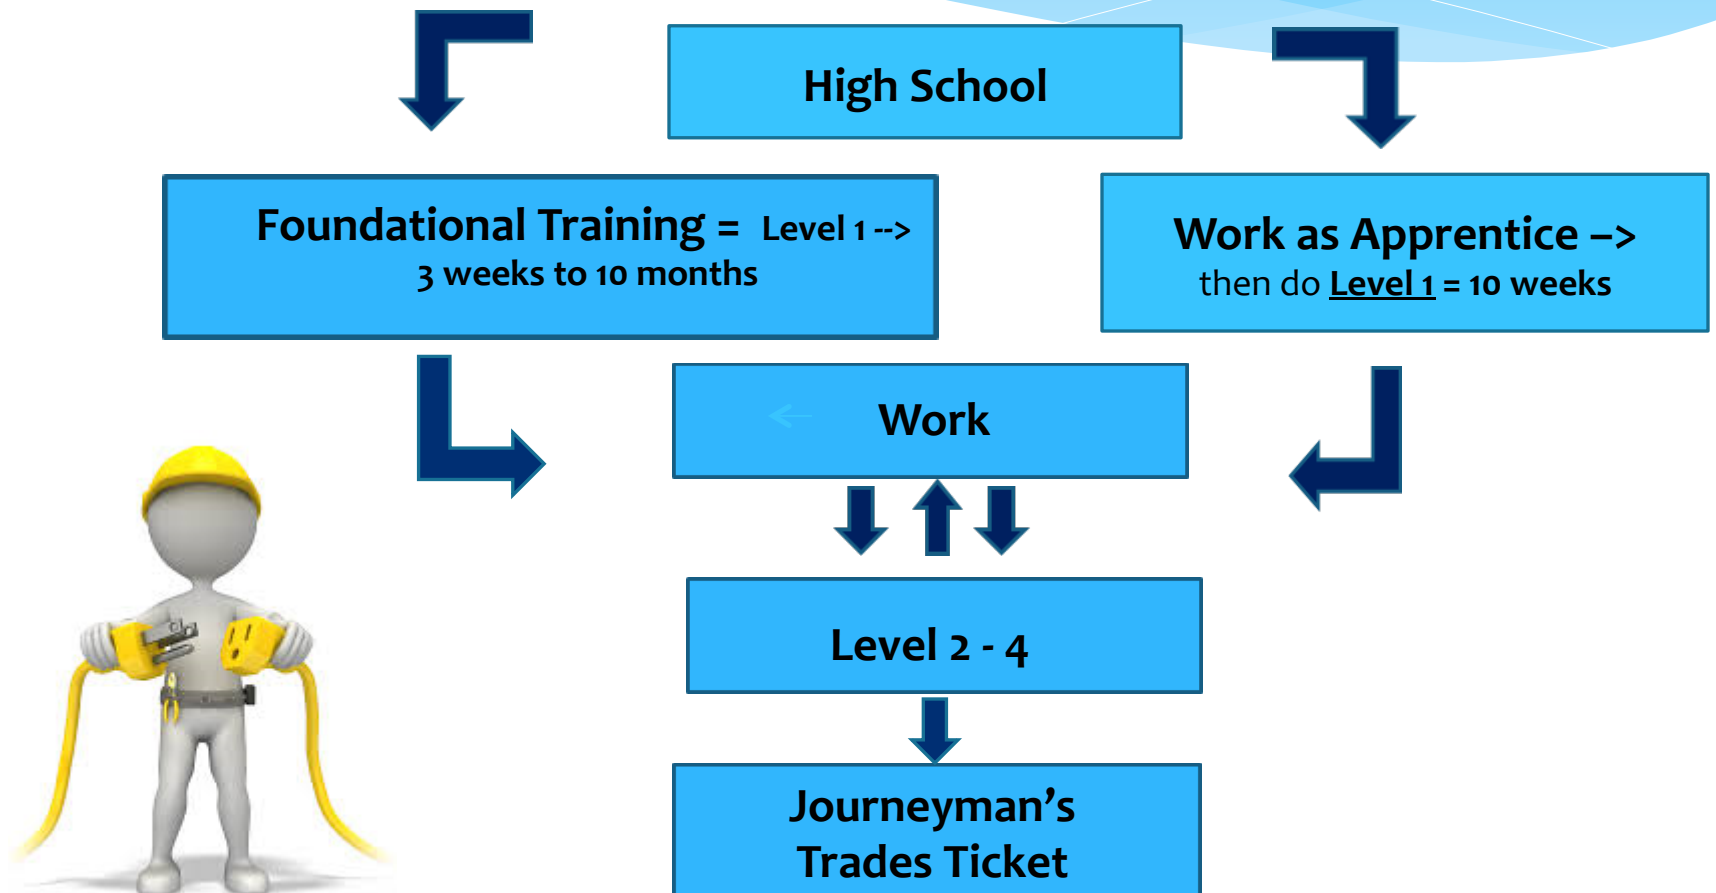

What Is an Apprenticeship?

- * Work-based training combined with post-secondary education
- * Three-way contract between employer, apprentice and Industry Training Authority

www.canada.ca/en/employment-social-development/services/apprentices.html

Skilled Trades Pathways after High School

How To Become An Apprentice

Ways to begin an apprenticeship:

During High School

1. Youth Work In Trades (formerly known as Secondary School Apprenticeship (SSA))
2. Youth Train In Trades (formerly known as Dual Credit Program e.g. ACE-IT)

After High School

1. Direct entry when hired by an approved journeyman
2. Foundation Training = Level 1; completed at institutions like BCIT, UFV, KPU; then find employer and be registered as an apprentice in BC. Typically approx. 30 week full-time programs.

Note: Trade programs (BCIT) have continuous enrolment, waitlists should be researched. Consider writing pre-tests in Grade 11 or 12 to enhance waitlist opportunities.

Youth Work In Trades

(Secondary School Apprenticeship)

See Mr. McKay

CRITERIA

- Must be 15 years of age and have a job in a trade area
- Must plan to continue in the trade after high school
- Must work for a journeyman who agrees to indenture the student

CREDITS

4 credits for every 120 hours of work (possible total of 16 credits)

SSA 11 A + SSA 11B

SSA 12A + SSA 12B

If continue in the trade area for at least six months after graduation you are eligible for a $1000 scholarship

Types of Post-Secondary Institutions

It helps to understand the different types of Post-Secondary Institutions that are available

- * Public Institutions receive money from the provincial government and are regulated by the province and the Ministry of Advanced Education (UBC, SFU, Kwantlen, Langara, etc.)
- * Private Institutions must raise funds through tuition and donations; they have permission to be a post-secondary institution by the province of British Columbia. Tuition tends to be double that of public institutions (Trinity Western University, CDI, Art Institute of BC, etc.)

What do Colleges offer?

- * Upgrading Courses
- * Vocational Training
- * Certificates
- * Diplomas
- * Degrees
- * Technical Training
- * Transfer Programs

College

1. Up-grading (also called: University Prep)

- * Complete required courses for program of interest – e.g. Math, English

2. Vocational Training

- Skilled trades and a wide-variety of career areas, including health care, computer technology, and office management
- Offered through both private and public institutions
- Can lead to a Certificate or Diploma

College - examples of areas of study to obtain a certificate, diploma or trades qualification

Certificate
1 year or less

- Early Childhood
- Accounting
- Legal Administration
- Horticulture

Diploma

- Theatre/Visual/Graphic Art
- Computer Systems
- Business/Marketing/Accounting
- Criminal Justice

Trades

Career Laddering Example

Certificate -> Diploma -> B.A. -> M.A. in Criminal Justice

Note how each credential can potentially build onto the next

Year 1	Criminal Justice Certificate (Douglas)
Year 1, 2	Criminal Justice Diploma (UFV)
Year 3, 4	Bachelor of Arts (Criminal Justice) through UFV or Bachelor of Technology in Forensic Investigation through BCIT
Year 5, 6	Master of Arts in Criminal Justice

Comparison

Undergraduate Degrees

- * Bachelor of Arts
- * Bachelor of Commerce
- * Bachelor of Applied Science
- * Bachelor of Fine Arts
- * Bachelor of Social Science
- * Bachelor of Science
- * Bachelor of Kinesiology

Professional Programs

- * Teacher Education
- * Chartered Professional Accountant
- * Professional Engineer
- * Dentistry
- * Lawyer
- * Medicine
- * Physical Therapy

- Many programs – e.g. Law and Medicine, do NOT require a specific undergrad degree
- If you plan to pursue a professional degree, you must first complete a few years in an undergraduate program (or an entire Bachelor Degree). Often students change their mind about their major/program over the first few years.
- An estimated 20 to 50 percent of students enter college as “undecided” (Gordon, 1995) and an estimated 75 percent of students change their major at least once before graduation (Gordon, 1995).

University – Undergraduate Admissions

To be accepted into University students usually must meet:

1. General Requirements for each Post-Secondary Institution

- Based on your grade 11 & 12 courses (a certain number of approved courses are required)
- Some require a second Language + certain Math Requirements

2. Program Specific Requirements

- The requirements for Engineering differ from the requirements for Nursing

3. Grade Point Average (GPA)

- In BC, most institutions calculate GPA using English 12 + 3 approved Gr. 12 courses but there are exceptions
- (Outside BC, institutions sometimes calculate GPA based on 4 approved courses)

- * Language can open doors to employment, travel and graduate studies
- * A second language can be acquired through high school, equivalency or challenge exam
- * Summer school does NOT offer a second language
- * On-line language courses are NOT recommended
